

Page1

This image is a collage of various interior design projects, likely from a portfolio or a company's work history. It features a grid-like arrangement of photographs showing different rooms and spaces, each accompanied by a date and a project name in Chinese. The projects are organized into several rows and columns, with some sections highlighted in orange. The dates range from 2010-2-3 to 2010-10-7. The project names are in Chinese characters, often followed by a code or number. The images show a variety of interior styles, including modern living rooms, bedrooms, bathrooms, and commercial spaces like a clothing store and a restaurant. The collage is a visual summary of the company's design work over a period of about a year and a half in 2010.

